

Corduroy

by Don Freeman

1. In this story, Lisa and Corduroy finally got what they always wanted - a best friend! Lisa didn't care that Corduroy wasn't exactly perfect. She didn't care that he was missing a small round button from his shoulder strap. The button was shaped like a flat circle.

The newspaper is filled with many different shapes. How many can you find? Look at the photos, ads, and charts in the newspaper to see how many different shapes you can identify. Try to find circles, squares, ovals, and rectangles. Cut each of them out and make a picture graph of your own. Paste them on the chart and write the number that you found on the line. Predict which shape will be used the most in the newspaper.

I predict that the newspaper will have more _____ than any other shape.

Circle

Square

Oval

Rectangle
